Christ reveals his mind to his people gradually. From that time, when the apostles had made the full confession of Christ, that he was the Son of God, he began to show them of his sufferings. Those that follow Christ, must not expect great or high things in this world. Peter would have Christ dread suffering as much as he did; but it is a mistake to measure Christ's love and patience by our own. Whatever appears to be a temptation to sin, must be resisted with abhorrence, and not be negotiated with. Those that decline suffering for Christ, savor more of the things of man than of the things of God.
