Important Change

As Catholics, we recognize the Eucharist as the source and summit of our Christian lives, and the Sunday celebration of the Eucharist is a central part of living our faith. Bishop Taylor announced on Friday, September 25, that the temporary dispensation from Sunday Mass obligation will be lifted as of October 1. This means that starting in October, attending Sunday Mass should again be the norm for most of us. The dispensation will continue for anyone who is especially vulnerable or caring for someone especially vulnerable. The Protocols of maintaining 6 feet separation between non-household members and the wearing of face masks is critical to reducing the infection rate of this disease and remain in effect.

Is it lawful to pay taxes to the emperor or not? To fully understand this tricky question, it is necessary to know and understand what related to the minting of Roman coins. The right to mint a coin proved sovereignty. The Roman Government minted their own coins and jealously guarded this sovereignty, making it an act of rebellion to mint any coins other than under the Roman authority. As such, since the coins were minted by the Roman Empire, they belonged to its Government. Jesus replies to the question by saying: “Render unto Caesar what is Caesars and to God what is Gods”. As we contemplate today’s readings let us appreciate what God has given us. By the power of the Holy Spirit, let us preserve our gifts and blessings with all our souls, our minds, our spirits, our hearts and our strength. In the Most Holy Name of Jesus, let us keep these gifts stainless so that one day, when we will appear before the Lord God, we will proudly give Him back what He gave us. Then, we will rightfully inherit the assurance of our salvation.
